Parakram '13

Editor's Note

Hey JUITians! I am proud to reveal that Reverie has come up with the second issue of its monthly newsletter, Caravan... Carrying the voice of JUIT. The appreciation we received for our first issue has motivated us a lot and we have again given our best to connect with you through this media of ours. We are open to your thoughts and suggestions. Just write to us at admin@juitreverie.net and we will surely be in touch with you.

President's Message

Fellow JUITians,
After a successful Alumni Meet, with your support and enthuse, we have been able to organize the first ever sports meet of JUIT-Parakram-13. We all are working to add up more things in the regular happenings especially in the intellectual arena. I would like to appreciate the work being done by first year students who are coming forward to do things enthusiastically. I welcome all the faculty-in-charges, who have joined us on board.

The last basketball match added a cherry to the cake. The commendable sport played by JERSEY NO. 12, the three pointer, compelled the audience of JUIT to give him a standing ovation.

It's a matter of delight that many colleges went back with a trophy, and rest with a smiling face for which the credit goes to the Sports Club and everyone else who was a part of this mega event.

The winners were as follows:
DAV Chandigarh caught hold of the basketball trophy. HPU boys and Shoolini girls fetched the trophy in table tennis. LPU boys and Chitkara girls excelled in Badminton.

PARAKRAM, the first grand inter college sports meet organized by JUIT brought immense pleasure and happiness in the campus and added colours to the environment.

LPU, Chitkara University, DAV Chandigarh, Thapar University etc were part of this event along with JUIT.

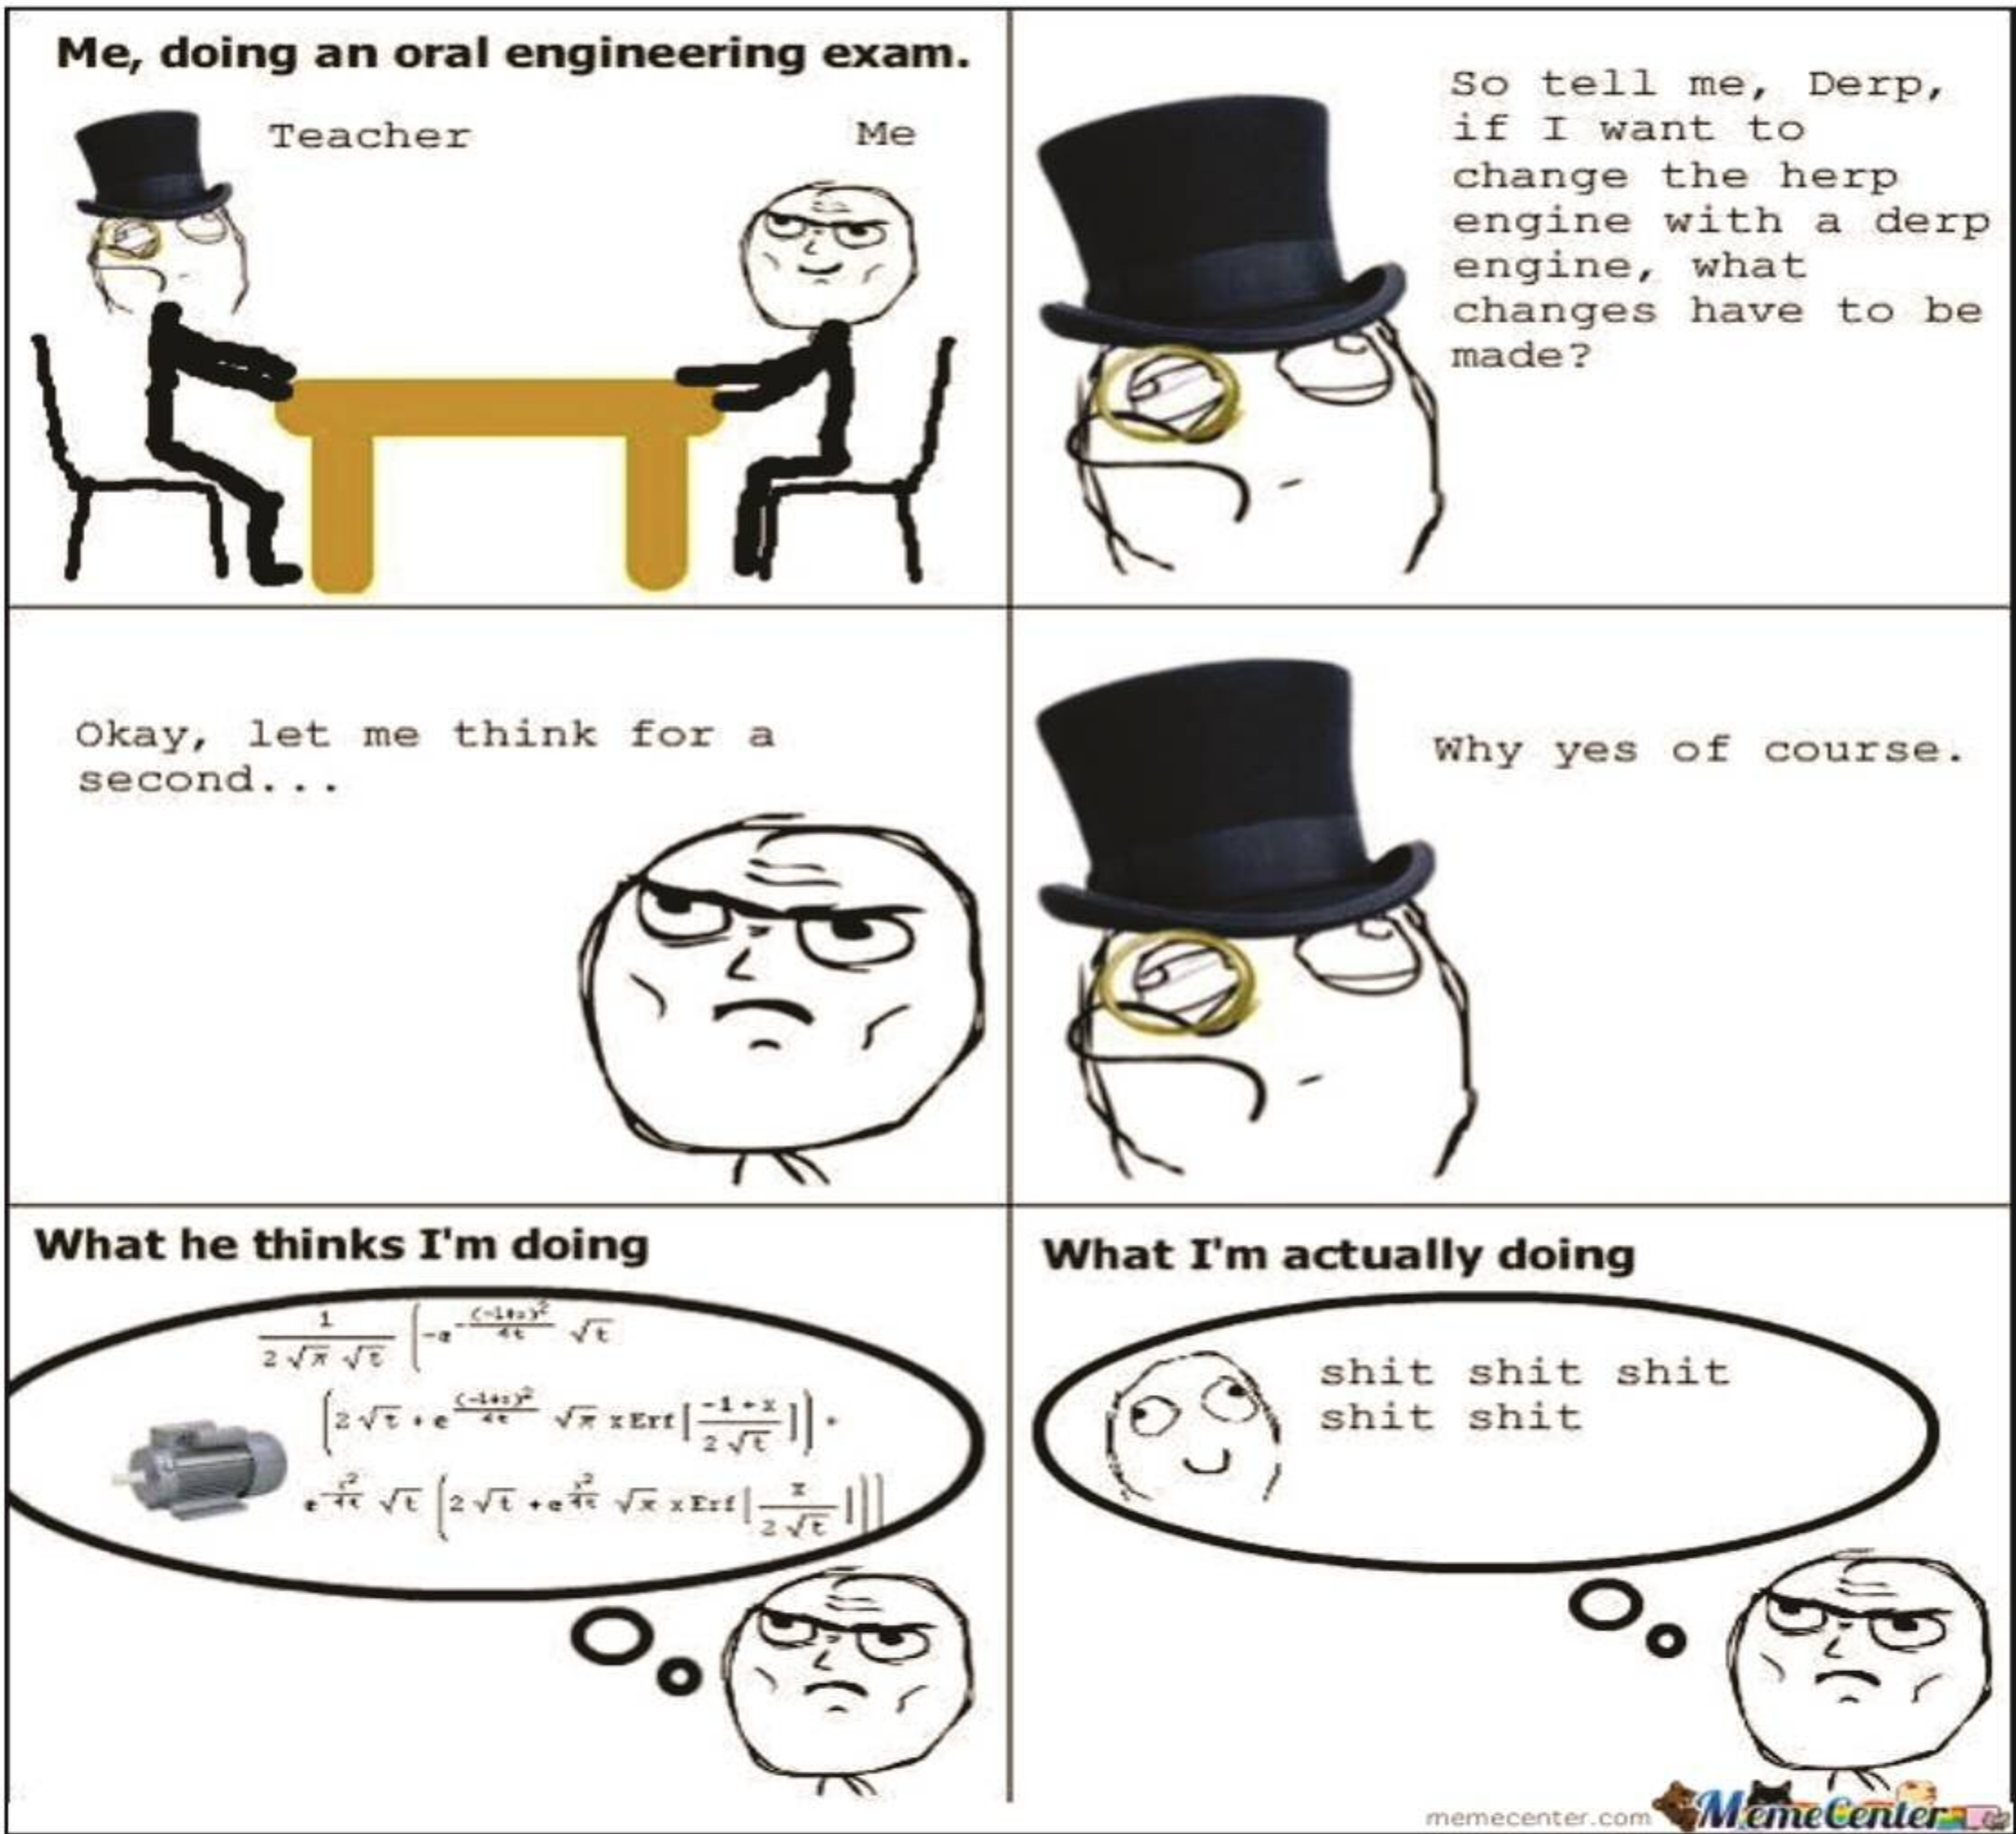

Matches held did grab the attention of the spectators but more of it was grabbed by the players. They say presence of opposite gender in the audience increases level of performance which stood exactly true during PARAKRAM 2013. Irrespective of JUIT on the field, the girls hooted like beasts on BBC to cheer the boys, some of them hunting for smarter ones. Most of the audience was found at stalls, 5 enjoying a single glass of cold drink that cost Rs. 20, with songs played at JUKE BOX which was again a reason for players getting enthusiastic. Also it created a pleasant

YES!+ 7.0 - A life changing experience

- Tanushree Sapra

Yes!+, an Art of Living initiative, is a course designed by Khurshed Batliwala. It is a powerful life skills program, which charges the youth with fresh breath of vigour, enthusiasm, excellence and responsibility. It is a smooth blend of ancient wisdom, yoga, meditation and pranayama fused with contemporary intellectual exchange, games and music, and of course Sri Sri Ravi Shankar ji's powerful breathing technique-the Sudarshan Kriya. The course was organized in JUIT from 24th to 29th October under Sumit Parkash and Anshuman Khullar. Throughout the course students were seen dancing, laughing, meditating and enjoying to the fullest. Overall, it was a complete fun learning package and everyone spent a memorable time together.

On the occasion of Gandhi Jayanti, a general discussion forum imitating Parliament or to be more precise, The Central Hall was conducted by the Literary Club. The main topic of discussion was "Safety of women in our country". A few local topics also got some attention like the hygiene of food in the mess, lack of educational and recreational tours in our university, etc. The panel for the political discussion comprised of students enacting Narendra Modi, Arun Jaitley, Sonia Gandhi, P Chidambaram and Manmohan Singh. It was a discussion worth watching where the political leaders defended themselves and claimed votes for elections 2014. Even the audience put up a good show by cross questioning them with moderators adding spice to the situation. The best speakers were announced in the end.

DEAR SIR/MA'AM

- Shubham Tayal
editorinchief@juitreverie.net

The college life of an engineer begins by saying “Good morning/evening Sir/Ma'am” and ends by hearing the same set of words.

Some are pissed off when they have to address a guy a year older than them as “sir”. Some get even more pissed off when a guy a year younger than them doesn't refer to them as “sir”.

Well, everyone has his/her different opinion on this issue. As per my thinking, when you enter a professional college, you got to start learning professional behaviour and ethics; “sir/ma'am” being an essential part of it. Prepare yourself for the organization you will be joining in future.

Guys, doesn't “bhaiya/didi” sound childish? You would definitely not like to use such terms with anyone senior to you in your job. It might have serious repercussions.

The road ahead is going to be tough my friends. You might have someone younger than you as your boss and you would still have to call him “sir/ma'am”.

So enjoy your college life, as chanting “sir/ma'am” is much easier than the world that we all will have to face one day.

Kavi Sammelan - 2013

- Pragya Sharma
pragya@juitreverie.net

Every year 14th September is celebrated as Hindi Diwas in our country. On this occasion, a Kavi Sammelan was organized on 16th September (owing to examinations we were 2 days late!). The guests of honour were two renowned poets of our country, Dr. Krishna Kumar and Prof. O.P.Saraswat, whose poems have been adopted in NCERT course as well. The event began with lighting of the lamp and a welcome speech by the JYC President. There were around 16 participants (to be frank, a good response!), each of whom presented the audience with a variety of poems (self composed and external). A few of them were quite a laugh indeed. A good number of faculty members of our university were also present with Prof. D.C. Kulshreshtha and Dr. R.K. Bajaj as the judges. During the event the guests of honour also came up with equal fervour and gusto and recited quite inspirational poems for us. The winners were: Anushtha (2nd Year) and Vinay (2nd Year). (Congratulations winners!). The event ended on a satisfactory note.

Raspberry pi (RPi)

- Vani Deeppak

vani@juitreverie.net

A 15 pound computer initially designed with the goal of teaching children programming-Raspberry pi (RPi) is the beginning of an era of cheap, accessible, programmable computers everywhere. It is a credit-card sized computer that plugs into your TV and a keyboard. It's a capable little PC which can be used for many of the things that your desktop PC does, like spreadsheets, word-processing and games. It also plays high-definition video.

Its major attributes being-It will not run WINE (or Windows, or other x86 software); Python is its default language but it also supports Java or any other language which will compile for ARMv6; Debian is the default distribution; and in it, the OS is stored on the SD card. The Raspberry Pi board contains a processor and graphics chip, program memory (RAM) and various interfaces and connectors for external devices. Some of these devices are essential, others are optional. RPi operates in the same way as a standard PC, requiring a keyboard for command entry, a display unit and a power supply.

The Alumni Meet - 2013

ananya@juitreverie.net

A fervent jamboree of our Alumni took place on 5th October 2013 organized by the Alumni Affairs Committee. Our enthusiastic alumni ranged over the entire campus and also felt some changes in the campus' vibes. An interactive session was also held where the alumni shared their experiences of their life in JUIT and campus placements. They also addressed many queries of the students regarding future studies. The students believed this session to be extremely motivating and filled with positivity. This was followed by a photo session and hand prints of our alumni were also taken as a token of recall. A tug-of-war competition was also held in the BBC where the alumni competed against the present student body and won the contest. As an award, the winning alumni boys got a chance to visit the Geeta Bhawan; a dream come true. The evening was followed by LAN gaming and an extravagant dinner at the Destination.

Shreya Goel, the Alumni Committee head, said, "This is the fourth Alumni Meet but we have never been able to contact so many seniors before. Over 50 alumni were present for the moment. So it's a great achievement."

A takeaway from the Alumni Meet: "There are endless opportunities waiting for us and we can achieve anything we want. Our journey has just begun."

Catch a glimpse of this.....

Suits :- This TV show started in the end of June 2011. In case you've never seen it, Suits is a show about beautiful people with beautiful clothes and immaculate hair strutting through sleek offices trading witty barbs, defending the firm's clients while power playing their way into more advantageous positions within the show's white-shoe New York firm, Pearson Hardman. Series creator Aaron Korsh and his writers and directors present these contests as feasts of eye and ear candy, as decadently pleasurable to watch as Starz's gladiator potboilers. This adult-oriented courtroom drama delivers a generally positive message about using strategy and smarts to help deserving clients. To sum up, this is a highly entertaining show that offers much clever dialogue and a unique premise, so definitely everyone, please check this one out!!!!

How I Met Your Mother:- 'How I Met Your Mother' is a romantic-comedy TV series which revolves around the lives of five friends and is basically a narration of the protagonist, Ted Mosby's life story. A series of bizarre, crazy, fun-filled moments, their mutual relationships, equations, friendships, fights, tears and laughter are the essence of the show. Ted's life is an emotional roller-coaster. In his fiasco of a life, he tries to search for true love, which he eventually does, in the mother of his children. Currently season 9 is on air and is running successfully. To keen viewers' great relief, the mother has been revealed, but there is more to witness. It's the kind of show which you can sit back, relax and enjoy after a long day!
